

CALLING ALL FIRST-YEAR TEACHERS!

The pandemic has changed just about everything in PreK-12 Education, and it will take some time to understand the full impact of this disruptive year on individuals and school communities. We want to learn about your experience of entering the world of teaching (independent, public, charter) during this pandemic year.

Re-Set School invites you to share your stories and insights by completing a short survey and, for those interested, participating in a brief interview.

Results of the survey will be presented in aggregate, so your privacy will be protected. Thank you for considering participation in this project.
